Urwerk UR-101 Torpedo

The latest version of Urwerk's 101 comes in an asymmetrical titanium case, with three hour satellites working in parallel (the 'torpedoes' of the name). And, of course, there's Urwerk's 'oil change indicator' to show when it's time for a service. The 101 costs CHF87,000. www.urwerk.com

Ulysse-Nardin Freak Diavolo

Release your inner imp with the Freak Diavolo from Ulysse-Nardin. Featuring a flying tourbillon to show seconds, and a carousel tourbillon for hours and minutes, it is a devilishly engaging watch. In an 18k white gold case, prices for the hand-wound Freak Diavolo are from £99,000. www.ulysses-nardin.com

HD3 Slyde

The astonishing Slyde promises "an infinity of components" – because you'll be able to download applications and graphical engines that you can access through the touchscreen it's a watch with unlimited dials. It's in production and will be delivered in September. Prices start at around €4,400 excluding downloads. www.hd3complication.com
